"Religion and Culture: A Dialogue," with Canon Standrod T. Carmichael as leader, will present religious inquiry at a “point of contact” in this year’s Religion-in-Life Week at Lindenwood Feb. 3-7.

The works of five authors — Golding, Steinbeck, Miller, Warren, and Salinger — will be discussed by Canon Carmichael as “useful devices presented with the religious issues as these authors see them.”

In addition to the authors and books to be used by Canon Carmichael, “For Heaven’s Sake,” a religious, musical black-out revue, will be staged, and three prominent artists will exhibit some of their works as well as participate in three of the evening convocations.

Assisting the exploration of religious, and consequently human, values which contemporary art forms express, will be: Gyo Obata, principal designer for Hellmut Obata Kassabaum, St. Louis architectural firm; Siegfried Reinhardt, distinguished St. Louis painter and nationally acclaimed artist who also teaches special courses at Washington University; and Robert Harmon, an outstanding designer-craftsman associated with Emil Frei, nationally prominent St. Louis stained glass house.

Tuesday evening, Feb. 5, Mr. Obata will speak at convocation on “Modern Man and Architecture.” Mr. Reinhardt will appear in Wednesday evening’s, Feb. 6, convocation using as a topic, “Art and Man: The Art of Being a Man.” Mr. Harmon’s address, “Man: A Creature of Hope in a New Creation,” will be heard Thursday, Feb. 7.

Discussing five books during the other Convocations and Vespers, Mr. Carmichael will be on campus for personal conversations, talk-back sessions, and quiet time, a period for readings of poetry by Charles Peguy. At 2 o’clock on the afternoon of Thursday, Feb. 7, he will present, “The Rat Race, The Egress, and The Phoenix,” a systematic, but streamlined theology for modern women.

Books to be used to present religious issues as seen by the authors include: “Lord of the Flies,” a study of little children at their play, by William Golding; "East of Eden," man’s home in the hinterlands, by John Steinbeck; "Death of a Salesman," the birth of hope, by Arthur Miller; "The Cave," a study in life-giving death, by Robert Penn Warren; and "The Catcher in the Rye," the savior in the world, by J. D. Salinger.

"For Heaven’s Sake," the religious, musical revue, in addition to being presented at Lindenwood during Religion-in-Life Week, will be given before the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches, at the close of its annual convention in St. Louis in the gold room of the Jefferson Hotel Feb. 14.

Originally written for the North American Ecumenical Youth Assembly at Ann Arbor, Mich., in 1961, it was given national publicity in the Saturday Evening Post last September as a new type of religious drama. The book, by Helen Kromer, features music by Frederick Silver and the mode of ideas communicated is satirical in many instances. A compact cast, including Marietta Stacz, Jim Thompson, Peter Simpson of the Lindenwood Faculty, and Mr. Carmichael, performs with an instrumental trio. Lindenwood’s performance will be the second ever presented anywhere of this striking new work.

This year’s Religion-in-Life Week promises to be a vital and interesting experience for Lindenwood students, a departure from the previous series of convocations.

Canon Carmichael is warden and program director, Thompson Retreat and Conference Center, in St. Louis County. In addition he is canon missioner, Christ Church Cathedral, and minister-in-charge, St. David’s Chapel.

Mr. Carmichael is the composer of "Music for the Liturgy," which he composed to “enable us to worship God in using traditional liturgical forms set to a contemporary style of music.”

Thompson Retreat and Conference Center, which he directs, is operated jointly by the Diocese of Missouri (Protestant Episcopal Church) and the Presbyterian Church of St. Louis (United Presbyterian and Presbyterian U.S.), and is an ecumenically oriented, racially unsegregated, lay training center and post-ordination training center for clergy. It is situated on a 32-acre tract in western St. Louis County.

Judy Ann Letson Crowned Cotillion Queen, 1962

Miss Judy Ann Letson, Atlanta, Ga., senior, was crowned Cotillion Queen of 1962 at the second annual Lindenwood College Cotillion held November 9 in the Khorassan Room at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis. Miss Jeanne Elizabeth Pohlmann, St. Charles, was chosen special maid.

More than 800 attended the ball and watched as each of the eight candidates was escorted the length of the Khorassan Room and received by the retiring queen, Miss Martha Ellen Ferguson, Oakland, Ind.

The Cotillion Queen was previously chosen from among eight candidates selected to represent each dormitory and the day students, but her identity was kept a secret until the coronation.

The other candidates attended the queen as maids of the court. They were: Miss Vivian Rose Lane, Morrilton, Ark.; Miss Paula Ann Bowlin, Pocahantas, Ark.; Miss Nancy Aldwilda Caldwell, Carthage, Mo.; Miss Judith Nadine Engelhardt, Affton, Mo.; Miss Karen Louise Rasmussen, Harlan, Ia.; and Miss Linda Lou Street, Branson, Mo.

New Art Gallery

A new art gallery, situated in the east end of Roemer Hall, has made possible a series of 12 art exhibits this year.
Currently exhibited are 10 paintings by John Wehmer, assistant professor of art at Lindenwood. Educa-ed at Washington University and the University of Illinois, in addition to his teaching experience at Lindenwood he has also taught at People's Art Center, St.
Louis; John Burroughs School; University of Illinois as a graduate assistant; and University College of Washington University.
Mr. Wehmer has received the following awards in recent years: first prize at the St. Louis Artists' Guild Annual Oil and Sculpture Exhibition, 1959; first prize, Temple Israel Old Testament Annual, 1960; and Richard K. Weil Award for Painting, St. Louis Following Mr. Wehmer's paintings will be the works of three artists, Gyo Ohata, Siegfried Reinhardt, and Robert Harmon. This exhibition will be a part of the college's Religion-in-Life Week program, and will be on view Feb. 3-7.
The Metropolitan Church Federation of St. Louis' show will be displayed from Feb. 8 to March 1. Jerry Imster, St. Louis artist, will be featured Mar. 1-22.
Following spring vacation, Lindenwood Associate
Prof. Arthur Kanak will exhibit beginning Apr. 1; Harland Goudie, chairman of the art department at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., will be the next exhibitor with a showing beginning April 19.
The works of Lindenwood seniors will be presented in a show from May 10 to June 1.
Violet Schoenberg, St. Charles painter; Joe Clements, water colors; Dorothy Neblett, Lindenwood graduate; and Gwyn McGowan, Lexington, Ky., artist, were featured in earlier exhibits.
Lindenwood's design class prepared an exhibit of holiday features for the Dec. 1-14 display.

Miss Mary Yonker, secretary to Dr. McCluer, is shown with
with two smaller oils, "Small Still Life" and "Small Landscape" shown.

William C. Engram, chairman of Lindenwood's psychology department, and John Wehmer discuss "Flight from Sodom," an oil in the exhibition.
Dr. Arnold J. Toynbee has chosen “Recurrence and Uniqueness in History” for his subject when he speaks at Lindenwood Convocation in April. He is serving as a visiting lecturer at Grinnell College, ia., second semester. Talks with various Lindenwood classes will be held the day after his convocation speech.

Lindenwood students have been preparing for Dr. Toynbee's visit since last fall. In December a film of Dr. Toynbee talking with an American Student was shown. Convocation Dec. 13 was entitled, “A Preview of Arnold Toynbee.”

Faculty members will participate in dormitory discussions during the coming months with a Feb. 13 discussion, “The Pattern of the Past,” centered around the philosophy of history. “Toynbee and History” will be the subject of the Feb. 28 discussion, emphasizing Toynbee's systems of civilizations.

“Toynbee and Religion,” the Mar. 14 dormitory talks, will present his views on Christianity and other world religions. The final discussion prior to his lecture will be Apr. 4. The subject will be “Toynbee and the Changing World” and will deal with the lecturer's views on the future of western civilization and the place of the United States in World Affairs.

Born in London in 1889, Dr. Toynbee studied at Winchester and at Balliol College, Oxford, where he says he received an “old-fashioned education in Greek and Latin Classics.” He has been awarded numerous degrees and honors by such institutions as Oxford, Cambridge, Columbia, and Princeton.

While a student in the British Archaeological School in Athens, his interest in current international affairs was awakened through hearing talk in cafes in Greek villages about the foreign policy of Sir Edward Grey. In 1912 Mr. Toynbee returned to Balliol as a fellow and tutor and taught ancient history until he entered war-time government service.

From 1919 to 1924 he was professor of modern Greek and Byzantine studies at King's College, London University, spending a year of that time traveling in Greece as war correspondent for the Manchester Guardian.

From 1925 until the end of Sept., 1955, when he officially retired, Arnold Toynbee was director of studies at the Royal Institute of International Affairs and research professor of international history in the University of London. His chief work for the institute was to produce, in collaboration with his late wife, Veronica M. Toynbee, the Institute's Survey of International Affairs.

From 1939 to 1946, however, he devoted all his time to government service as director of a war-time branch of the institute, which ultimately became the Research Department of the Foreign Office. In 1946 he was again a member of the British delegation to the Paris Peace Conference.

Since 1945, Dr. Toynbee has made numerous trips to the United States for lectures at colleges and universities, appearances on network radio and television programs, and participation in a series of seminars. He has written of his journeys to countries around the world in “East to West: A Journey Round the World,” “Between Oxus and Juma,” and numerous articles on his travels.

5 Named to Honorary Fraternity

Initiation of five new members to Alpha Lambda Delta was held Oct. 24 at the home of the sponsor, Dr. Marion Dawson Rechtern. Twelve sophomores, seven juniors, and eleven seniors belong to the Lindenwood chapter of the national honorary academic fraternity.

Freshmen with a 3.5 average or above are either elected at the end of the first semester or at the close of the first year of college work. Newly-elected are: Miss Glenda Gerred, Kansas City, Mo.; Miss Susan Gardner, Michigan City, Ind.; Miss Janet Hoetker, St. Louis; Miss Linda Stephenson, Decatur, Ill.; and Miss Charlene Wisdom, Green Ridge, Mo.

Letters to the Alumnae Office

This quotation by Dr. Houston Smith, I believe, describes that which is indescribable about Lindenwood College:

“A college worthy of the name will have a spiritual life of its own which makes it more than an assemblage of teachers, students, and buildings. At best it will have an atmosphere which is felt to be different from other environments the moment one steps into it and which acts as a powerful developing force upon all who live within it. Such an atmosphere will be like a mist in the sense that one cannot put one’s finger on it, but no one should be able to stay in it long without becoming thoroughly soaked.”

June Tavlin '61
Katherine Fryogle Sherrow

Katherine Fryogle Sherrow (Mrs. Herbert K. Jr.), new vice-president of the Alumnae Association, lives at 2400 Harrison Ave., Apt. C-2, Cincinnati 11, O.

A native of Grand Rapids, Mich., she was graduated from Lindenwood with the B.S. degree in elementary education. She and her husband, a graduate of Georgia Tech, were married in the Lindenwood College Chapel in 1960 with Dr. Eugene Conover officiating.

She has taught for three years. Her first teaching experience was in St. Louis County followed by a second grade assignment in Atlanta, Ga., during the time that her husband worked on his master's degree in industrial engineering. When the Sherrows moved to Cincinnati, she took a teaching assignment in sixth grade math and science.

Mr. Sherrow is associated with Proctor and Gamble.

In addition to her duties with the national organization, she also serves as vice-president of the Cincinnati Lindenwood Club.

June Sneed Sackett

June Sneed Sackett (Mrs. Hubert F. Jr.), our new treasurer, moved to the St. Louis area two years ago after having lived in Cincinnati for five years.

Mr. Sackett had, at that time accepted a position with National Recognizers, a subsidiary of Universal Match. He is now general manager of Universal Match.

The Sackets, including three children, Michael, nine, Debbie, eight, and Stephanie, three, live in Florissant, Mo., where June has joined the North County Lindenwood group. She serves as treasurer of the group.

Members of the Florissant Valley Country Club, the Sackets are both "interested and active," with June serving as entertainment chairman and a member of the golf committee.

Stephanie Fante

Stephanie Fante, new council member, lives in Houston, Tex., where she is executive secretary and manager of the Executive Suites in the Lincoln Liberty Life Building.

Stephanie studied at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, after leaving Lindenwood. Her first job after college was with KHOU-TV in Houston, the CBS affiliate there.

She then served as continuity director for KTSA Radio, a McLendon station, in San Antonio, Tex., until her family moved to Houston in February of last year. She moved to Houston at that time and assumed her present position.

About her election to the council, Stephanie writes, "I cannot express my surprise and excitement at being on the council and am really looking forward to it."

Diane Stanley

Diane Stanley, who lives in Washington, D.C., has been elected to the Alumnae Council. She lived in Guatemala until she moved to Des Moines, Ia., not only for her education, but also for citizenship purposes, since her father is English.

Diane attended Lindenwood and was graduated from the University of Missouri School of Journalism. She spent 10 months as a Fulbright grantee at the University of Chile, Santiago, Chile, where she undertook a study of freedom of the press, subsequently published in Harvard University's "Nieman Reports."

The new council member served as a researcher in the Latin American section of Time magazine for two years before taking a job with the United States Information Agency. In this current assignment she writes television scripts for a weekly program that is seen in 18 Latin American countries by approximately 12 million people.

Lillian Nitcher

Lillian Nitcher, Miami, Fla., returns to the council following her move from Washington, D.C., to Miami to accept her current position with the Welfare Planning Council of Dade County.

Lillian and her activities have been featured in The Bulletin on several occasions. While serving as associate executive secretary of the Community Welfare Council in Madison, Wis., she was named Citizen of the Year by the Newspaper Guild of Madison. Prior to her work to Madison, she received a citation award while serving with the Red Cross during World War II.

Leaving Madison in 1960, she became director of health and welfare in the Washington, D.C., area.

An alumnae certificate of merit was presented to Miss Nitcher at Founder's Day, 1959, when she was cited for having lived creatively, acquiring in youth and maintaining the habit of broad thinking, and having shown "leadership in the field of civic and social welfare in her city, her state, and abroad."

CENTURY-OLD GRAND, FIRST IN MIDWEST, IS GIFT TO COLLEGE

A century-old piano, the first concert grand to be shipped to the midwest, has been given to Lindenwood College by Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Steger, Chase Apartments, 4831 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis.

Construction of the piano was begun in 1859 by the Steinway family in their piano shop. Its completion was interrupted by the Civil War. Completed after the war, it was delivered to Cincinnati and shipped by boat to New Orleans, and then to Louisville, Ky., by river boat.

When and how the piano came to St. Louis is not known, but it was discovered in a warehouse in 1934 by a representative of the Aeolian Company of Missouri. The firm restored the instrument, and before it was shipped to its new owner in Connecticut, it was used for a concert with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

The Stegers made the gift to Lindenwood when they gave up their home and moved into an apartment. Mr. Steger is vice-president of the Curtis Manufacturing Co., and his office is in St. Louis.

The piano, constructed of rosewood, is being used in the parlor of Sibley Hall.

DR. McCLUER HAS TWO-WEEK TRIP IN EAST FOR MEETINGS

Dr. F. L. McCluer completed a two-week trip to Washington, Atlantic City, and New York earlier this month.

In the nation's capital attending a meeting of the General Assembly Council of the National Presbyterian Church and Center, Dr. and Mrs. McCluer also held a meeting with Lindenwood alumnae who live in the Washington area.

Dr. McCluer, as chairman of the General Assembly Council of the National Presbyterian Church and Center, presided at the meeting.

Two meetings in Atlantic City, the Presbyterian College Union and the Association of American Colleges, were included on Dr. McCluer's agenda.

The Presbyterian College Union has a membership of more than 40 colleges which are church-related. One of the highlights of the meeting was an address, "Faith, Science and the Church-Related College," by Dr. Ronald W. McNeur, study secretary, General Division of Higher Education, Board of Christian Education.

The Union sessions were followed by the annual meeting of the Council of Protestant Colleges and Universities, also held in Atlantic City.

Following the meeting of the Association of American Colleges Jan. 15-17, Dr. McCluer was in New York for appointments related to the college's development program.

Alumnae Abolish Dues

By Dyke Steinbeck Barton
National Alumnae President

Alumnae Association dues of $3 were eliminated by revision of the By-Laws at the association's meeting last October, upon recommendation of the Alumnae Council and its executive committee.

During last year, our Alumnae Council made a thorough study of the association's financial structure and status and decided to dispense with national dues. The association has never received enough money from the collection of dues to be self-supporting, and because the college feels that alumnae interest and activities are vital, it has subsidized its income and program.

Under the new financial system, which is comparable to that of almost all women's colleges, the Alumnae Association will function as a department of the college. It will have a budget prepared by the association president and the alumnae secretary, with all operating funds coming directly from the college. In return, all money received by the alumnae association will be presented as a gift to the college. As in the past, gifts may be designated for specific purposes by the donor.

It is hoped that all of us will give greater support to our annual Alumnae Fund appeal. Instead of dues, let's double our gifts to the college through our association in 1963.
UNDERCLASS STUDENT, OPERA LECTURE

"Opera for the Underclass Student in a Liberal Arts College," was the subject of a lecture by Dr. Pearl W. Walker, professor of music at Lindenwood, Sunday, Jan. 20, for the St. Louis Chapter of the National Association of the Teachers of Singing. The meeting was held in St. Louis.

Three students from Lindenwood's music department took part in Dr. Walker's presentation, singing arias representative of modern trends in operatic development.

TWENTY MEET TO SELECT DISPLAY

Twenty members of a committee in charge of an exhibit of curriculum bulletins and instructional materials for the Annual Conference of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development met at Lindenwood Friday, Dec. 7, 1962, for a work session.

The committee selected, evaluated, and listed materials submitted by schools, colleges, and State Departments of Education from 50 states. Selections from the hundreds of pieces received will be exhibited in Kiel Auditorium during the ASCD Conference, March 10-14. Following the meeting, the materials become the property of Lindenwood.

CARLETON PROFESSOR ON LECTURE SERIES

Dr. Kenneth O. May, professor at Carleton College, will appear on Lindenwood's lecture series Apr. 3 and 4. He will give four lectures, one at convocation, in mathematics.

A fellow of the Institute of Current World Affairs and of Funds for Advancement of Education, he has directed experimental programs for the National Science Foundation. His Lindewood appearance will be made possible by the Program of Visiting Lecturers of the Mathematical Association of America with the support of the National Science Foundation.

Music for a small string orchestra and a harpsichord concerto by J. S. Bach will be featured Mar. 18 when the Arista Ensemble appears at Lindewood. A string ensemble of 13 with harpsichord, William Shatzkaner of Washington University is the conductor.

MARCH CHOIR TOUR PLANNED

Plans are being completed for the March tour of the Lindewood College Choir, Franklin E. Perkins, director, has announced.

The group will leave St. Charles Thursday, Mar. 21. Appearances have been scheduled in Louisville and Lexington, Ky., and Cincinnati and Dayton, O.

JOHN LITTLE GIVES LECTURE-RECITAL

John B. Little, chairman of the music department at Lindenwood, presented a lecture-recital Jan. 10 in Roemer Auditorium. His program consisted of two piano works of Aaron Copland, "Piano Variations" and "Piano Sonata."

The program was sponsored by Phi Theta Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT HAS VARIED PROGRAM UNDER DIRECTION DURING CHRISTMAS SEASON

Lindenwood's music department had many activities under its direction during the Christmas season.

The Choralaires presented a Christmas service replacing vespers Dec. 9. The program consisted of "A Christmas Cantata—Welcome Thou King of Glory" by Vincent Luebeck and "Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten.

Five selections from "Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten were taped by the Choralaires, under the direction of Franklin Perkins, director, for KMOX-TV presentation Dec. 18. Earlier in the month, Dec. 11, the group presented a musical program at Second Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, and Dec. 18 they sang at Ladue Chapel where Mr. Perkins is the minister of music.

A Christmas Candlelight service, featuring a procession by the 60-voice Lindewood Choir, was presented Sunday, Dec. 16. A Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols in the Old English Cathedral style followed, with selected members of the student body, faculty, and the administration each reading one of the lessons, and the Choir leading the singing of the carol following the lesson.

TULSA LINDENWOOD CLUB
Jeannette Pendlaris President

The first Christmas party of the season for many members of the Tulsa Alumnae Club was held in the home of Alberta Simpson Matteson (Mrs. George B.) Dec. 5. We met for a covered-dish dinner, served buffet style from a beautifully appointed Christmas table. Alberta’s beautiful dishes afforded us an opportunity to eat from Belkiss plates.

Twice a tribute to our social chairman, Beverly Boylan Foster, and her menu-planning, that when the piece de resistance did not appear, the meal was more than adequate. We won’t let the member forget for a while that she forgot to bake the ham, and even went out of town for the evening. She takes teasing well. Anyway, that seemed to start the party off on a fun note, and from then on everything was gay.

A gift exchange followed dinner, and it is always a source of wondrousment how people find so many unusual and cute gifts within the $2 limit.

Sending a gift and a personal note to a hospitalized member finished our evening. Helen von Unwerth and Jeanette Webb Pendlaris assisted Alberta and Beverly as co-hostesses.

Others who attended the meeting were: Mary Brooks, Elizabeth Siegsmund Deardorf, Twilla Barnes Frederick, Polly Pollock Holway, Eleanor Wilcoxson Jaeger, Elizabeth Harris Klopfenstein, Vivian Fairchild Taylor, Charlotte Williams Tower, Elizabeth Parrish Van House, and Norma Sabin Wallingford.

January Meeting

Our January meeting was held in the home of Norma Sabin Wallingford. Dinner was followed by an evening of Bingo. We look forward to this annual event for two reasons, probably. One is the prizes are White Elephants and it gives us an opportunity to clear our shelves of these eye-sores, and the other is trying to select a gift that we haven’t had before from a table were all prizes are disguised in brown paper sacks. It is amazing how familiar some of these things become, year after year.

Betty Hosmer Mossman and Charlotte Williams Tower assisted Norma as co-hostesses.

February Meeting

The February meeting will be held in the home of Marguerite Dearmont Lewis, with Helen von Unwerth and Jeanette Pendlaris as assisting hostesses.

Following dinner, our program will be given by our own Elizabeth Setgsmund Deardorf. Elizabeth is a decorator and will talk on interior decorating. She recently completed a re-decorating of Mary’s home so she will have made-to-order examples for her talk.

Club Tid-Bits

We have two new Lindenwood potentials in new granddaughters.

Mercedes Bryan Hawkins has a new granddaughter, Dacey Hawkins, the daughter of Bryan and Nancy Hawkins of Tulsa. She was born Dec. 30 and weighed 7 lbs. 12 oz.

Paige Kelley Pendlaris was born to Creighton and Carolyn Pendlaris in Topeka, Kans., Nov. 5. She weighed 7 lbs. Jeannette Webb Pendlaris is her grandmother.

With candle gold full in hand, Auctioneer Mabel Wilkins Salten, secretary of the club, asks, "What am I bid?" Chairman of the auction committee was Grace Gray Arsenau.

Mrs. McClintock pours as Esther Barklage Rochterm and Mrs. Louise Ritter, a former Lindenwood teacher, try the Christmas cookies and spiced tea. Presiding at the other end of the table was Florence Blochaum Null, a former club president. The table arrangement and cookies were prepared by hostess chairman, Lessley Freeman Colson, and her committee, Mary Nathan Barklage, Ted Baits Tho, Florence Blochaun Null, and Marie Bordelon Mayfied.

The Oklahoma City Alumnae Club met for a holiday party at the home of Lucyl Shirk Dec. 29. Students home for Christmas, alumnae, and some prospective students enjoyed delicious food and good chatting about school and friends.
To identify each Lindenwoodite, everyone wore name tags—alumnae tags strung on yellow yarn, student tags on green, and prospective students on red, so everyone could tell at a glance who was who.
There were 25 alumnae: Mary Sue Bragg, Elizabeth Barnhill, Marilyn Nicholas Brainard, Mary Alice Lillyard Carmichael, Grace Terry Clinton, Gwen Levers Davis, Margaret Doumanv, Margaret Endicott, Margaret Fischer Eskridge, Carolyn Burton Evans, Barbara Ringer Hamilton, Margaret Ringer Howell, Barbara Morris Kratting, Helen Doolin Lloyd, Earleen Simon Mills, Harriet Gum Moffitt, Suzanna Prentice Moreland, Donna Foutch Myron, Norma Camp Pope, Miriam Ferrin Powell, Janet Batchelor Ridle, Jessie Benson Row, Chiquita Smith, Jackie Fulton Stanford, Patsy Clopton Williams. The four students were Sharon Clinton, Anita Miller, Carol Eadic, and Marian Wilson. There also were five girls who are already planning to attend Lindenwood or who are hoping to do so.
Carolyn Evans, our president, held a short meeting at which plans were made for our next meeting Mar. 7 at the home of Margaret Eskridge at 12:30 p.m. It will be one to look forward to because it is to be a “basket-surprise” lunch. Everyone will bring a favorite dish plus 10 copies of her recipe for it, and these recipes will be sold for 10 cents each as a small money-raising idea. Best treat of all will be that Dr. and Mrs. McCluer will be here for a visit and our meeting will be a good one, we are sure.

The Dec. party ended only after all joined in a Lindenwood song fest which made more than a few quite nostalgic. It was fun, and having alumnae and students together to exchange notes and gossip about the school made all of us feel very close.

Doris Nahigian Gertmenian (Mrs. Comm) was hostess for our club meeting Nov. 17, with Thelma Harpe Ogden, her mother, and Mildred Burke Simpson as assisting hostesses. About 20 members were present to hear Janey Randel Siska and Marian Titus Ellis tell what they missed by not attending the alumnae weekend house party.
Following the short business meeting, Mrs. Gertmenian introduced Mrs. Olga Rose of the Rose Shoppe in San Marino who gave a delightful talk on her hobby, candles. She also gave information on the proper way to wrap packages for mailing and showed us new children’s books and gift items from their shop.

An afternoon punch party Dec. 30 at the home of Vera Langenbacher Hutcheson proved a happy, congenial reunion. Approximately 25 were present, including eight men (husbands of alumnae and fathers of students) who were glued to television for the Green Bay-New York championship game. Students present were home for the holidays.

Dr. and Mrs. Franc L. McCluer of Lindenwood College are honor guests at the annual alumnae festivity that was a magnet for party-goers at the residence of Mrs. James A. Reed in Kansas City. In a chatting group at the brunch, in usual order are Club President Mrs. William Bridger, Dr. McCluer, Mrs. Joseph Crawford, Mrs. McCluer, and Mrs. Kenneth K. Barton.

Also on hand were Judy Anderson, a teacher in San Antonio, and her mother and June Tavlin, home for the holidays. The usual faithful alumnae present were: Kay Fryogle Serrrow, Barbara Goldenberg Solomon, Zilpha (Zeke) Curtin, June Burba Mullins, Peggy Flint Voss, Dorothy Sodemann Sproull, Jane Eykel and Betty Bear Munsen, who offered her home for the March meeting, to be assisted by co-hostess, Zeke Curtin. Dorothea Sodemann Sproull will take us on a European trip via films made when she and Mr. Sproull visited there last spring.
So we’re still alive and will send pictures as soon as they are ready.

In the News... Alumnae Marguerite Shewman and Lucyl Shirk

'47 Marguerite Little Shewman was featured in a special article in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat early in August, describing her role as director of the Monticello Preparatory School, Alton, Ill.

"If you educate a woman, you educate a family," she says referring to the current importance of girls continuing their education beyond the secondary level, going on to colleges and universities in pursuit of undergraduate degrees.

And this theory is the one which prompted the school's founding fathers to establish a seminary for women on the Illinois frontier in 1835. As director of this school, Mrs. Shewman serves as combination principal and dean of women for the prep school. She and her husband, like several other faculty members, have a home on the school campus.

Mrs. Shewman believes that the broad base of knowledge offered through a college education is particularly vital to women, who are expected to adapt to many different roles in their lifetime. "Most are going to raise a family, and at one time or another they will probably add to the family income."

"Women also tend to regulate the cultural activities of the community, as well as of their own family," she says. "And, of course, they want to help their husbands. Most girls these days expect the men they marry to be college graduates because they want them to have the income that comes with it."

"If a woman truly wants to help her husband, she needs to have the same awareness he has," she stated.

For these reasons, Mrs. Shewman believes girls need a college education in order to alert themselves to many different areas of learning and benefit from the orientation and information they offer. The important thing is for a girl to be determined on the goal of going to college. It's poor foresight on the part of the parents if she gets through high school without that feeling."

The Monticello director encourages students to prepare for college—and for college admission—by making good use of summers, either in work at things that are a problem or to follow up something they enjoy.

"The basis of the whole idea is for them to keep aware," she says, "to investigate the world around them and not just dwell on themselves."

She feels that catching up on outside reading, practicing skills they already possess, and generally avoiding summer slump are steps in the right direction for anyone on the campus-bound path.

But all of Marguerite Shewman's theories about education ultimately boil down to one thing; her belief that women need college preparation for their varied vocations just as much as men need it for their job of earning a living.

'40 Lucyl Shirk '40, Oklahoma City, Okla., executive director of Camp Fire Girls and herself a lifelong member, was recently spotlighted by the Oklahoma City Times in a feature article. Last year approximately 7,000 girls, aged 7 to 17, took part in the program she directed.

“Our entire program is based on developing the skills that are fundamental to a happy, healthy womanhood," she says, "This year we are going into a brand new program. It was worked out and presented at our Golden Jubilee in 1960. It includes a division into four program levels, with a definite and distinctive program for the girls of junior high school age—a more grown-up program."

Oklahoma City's latest honor for Camp Fire Girls was the winning of the grand championship in the junior division activities at the Oklahoma State Fair in September. They have won it every time it has been offered.

Executive director in Oklahoma City since 1956, Miss Shirk admits: "I have been a Camp Fire Girl since I was a little, little girl. My father got me interested in it... He had worked with the Boy Scouts for many years, then decided to work with girls. Through his interest I became interested."

Her father, the late John Shirk, served three terms as president of the board of directors, and was instrumental in building Camp Cimarron, which, many years later, his daughter is directing.

The Shirks are a well known Oklahoma City family, and Miss Shirk makes her home with her mother and her brother, George.

She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae, Kappa Kappa Iota professional education group, Pilot Club of Oklahoma City, Women's Civic Club Council, the Women's Dinner Club, and the Oklahoma City Beautification Committee.

After attending Lindenwood, she was graduated from the University of Oklahoma as a history major. She did postgraduate work and taught school in the state.
