THE AYRES CAMPAIGN: ‘FLOORED’ BY WARNER; PALS SUITE

In 1906, Dr. George Ayres raised $40,000 to build what was first called Jubilee Hall. Dr. Ayres told Andrew Carnegie, one of the major contributors, that the College could not grow unless it had more residential space.

George Ayres would be so proud. Ayres Jubilee Hall, vacant for 15 years, has been renovated for the purpose of providing the necessary residential space to accommodate this year’s record enrollment. Carnegie and Butler may have helped build the building, but friends like Dorothy Warner and Anne Pals are helping to restore it to its rightful purpose.

The first floor of Ayres Hall has been named the Dorothy Warner Floor in appreciation of her generous lead gift to the Campaign. The first suite to be named in Ayres is dedicated to Anne Pals. She lived in the suite which now carries her name.

The Ayres Campaign has already brought in over $150,000 in cash and pledges and the Alumni Floor Drive is targeted to raise $150,000. The Board of Directors and key friends are leading an effort to raise the balance of the total $500,000 campaign goal.

Alumni Floor Campaigns

While you will soon be receiving the details of the Ayres Alumni Floor Drive, Lindenwood will be involving alumni leaders in a continuing effort to name an alumni floor in every building on campus. Ayres was chosen as the first building in the campaign because there was an immediate need to meet enrollment growth. But you may feel a special affinity to another residence hall or building. Following are the Donor Categories which will apply to any residence hall:

Alumni Acres

As of this printing, Lindenwood is now whole again. The 50 acres on back campus sold in 1984 have been reclaimed for Lindenwood. In addition to the sentimental reasons for repurchasing the land, it was imperative that we have space in which to grow. The acreage, sold for $2 million, now again belongs to Lindenwood—and the price was $1.6 million. A bargain in anyone's book. If you are interested in being a Lindenwood Landholder, contact the Development Office at (314) 949-4903.

NEWEST MEMBER OF BUTLER SOCIETY
Elizabeth Mudd Rauch

"I will stand by you to the last button on my vest."
Col. James Butler

Col. Butler made that pledge in 1913 when he asked Dr. John Roemer to take the presidency of Lindenwood College. Col. Butler's pledge was more than rhetoric. Through him and his wife, Margaret Leggat Butler, Lindenwood received gifts exceeding $25 million (in 1988 dollars). The Butler Society was established to enlist friends of Lindenwood to become the next generation of "Butlers." The latest member of the Butler Society is alumna, Elizabeth Rauch. Mrs. Rauch has contributed $25,000 of First State Bank stock to the Lindenwood endowment and joins over twenty-five other Lindenwood friends who are now a part of the "Butler Family". Elizabeth Mudd Rauch has touched the past, the present, and now, the future of this great College.

REUNION '91

On a beautiful, warm Friday in October they began to return. Slowly, at first only a few at a time. But each of them, as they crossed over the threshold from what is to what is remembered, underwent a change, each step became a little livelier, eyes a little brighter. They had come home—to the place where they began as innocents and finished as adults, to face whatever presented itself on the other side of the small pillar low stone gate.

All right, so, maybe Reunion Weekend wasn't quite that idyllic. The truth is we had fun. A plain, simple telling-stories-on-each-other good time.

Former students and graduates representing 32 classes and 17 states, ranging in age from 21 to 84, enjoyed a wide variety of activities during the weekend. On Friday, the Fine Arts Building was "alumni central", featuring the unique paper art of Margaret Ahrens Sahlstrand ('61) and the photographs of her husband, James. The Alumni Board Silent Auction items were also on display and desserts were served on the lower level where guests were entertained by the sounds of the Lindenwood Jazz Combo under the direction of Bob Carter.

On Saturday morning, we gathered for coffee and class photos at the President's House. While all of us had a lot of "catching up" to do with each other, the one remark heard over and over again was, "Doesn't the Marsha Hollander Parker (’71, ’87) was named the Executive Director of Alumni Relations in October, 1991. Ms. Parker, a native of St. Charles, returned to Lindenwood in August, 1987, as the Director of Evening and Corporate Admissions. She has a history at Lindenwood older than she is: Her mother worked at the College while she was pregnant with Marsha. Her mother, also proud of her other LC connections. Her grandmother, Edith Denningmann, was a housekeeper in Irwin and Butler Halls, and her great-uncle, Elmer Huncker, was a "gray man" who spent time keeping Young Hall looking sharp.

After graduation in 1971, Marsha taught for one year and then served as Director of Volunteers for the St. Louis State School and Hospital. Most of her professional career has been spent in the field of human services. She worked as Juvenile Officer for the 11th Judicial Circuit and for 10 years as the Director of Personnel at the St. Charles City Library. She returned to Lindenwood in 1984 and earned a Master of Fine Arts in Theatre in 1987.

She and her husband, Ron, live in Orchard Farm, Missouri. Most of her "off-duty" time is spent writing, performing and attending her niece’s and nephews’ soccer games. Her office is located in the Administrative wing in Roemer Hall. The direct phone line to the Alumni Office is 1-949-4903.

Probably the best way to get to know her and how she feels about Lindenwood is to read the speech that she presented at the Alumni Luncheon during Reunion Weekend. Continued On Pg. 6

The Fabulous Fifties

It is always an honor to welcome alumni back to their alma mater for a visit, but it is a special honor to meet and talk with alumni celebrating their 50-year reunion. Dorothy Wehrle Brundage, Adelaide Wilke Huncker, Pearl Lamers Schaberg, Irene Altheide Korte, and Sara Jefferson Stukkenbroeker were joined by their classmates, Joanna Benecke Townsend and Mary Brown 1951 and were kind enough to talk with me about Lindenwood. It is my honor to share their reminiscences with you.

DOROTHEA WEHRLE BRUNDAGE

Originally from Eureka, Missouri, Dorothea attended Lindenwood her senior year. After graduation, she went to work for her father in his law office where she made good use of her interpersonal and organizational skills. She is now retired and lives in Florida. Dorothea’s sister, Donnalee, was also a Lindenwood graduate (Class of 1945), taught clothing courses at the College and served as president of the Alumni Association. Dorothea has the fondest memories of her two good friends, Jeni Watcher Jones and June Goran DuLany.

ADELAIDE WILKE HUNKER

Adelaide, a native of St. Charles, attended Lindenwood as a day student and worked part-time at her father’s store like so many students do today. After graduation, she worked outside the home until 1953 when she married Ed Huncker. She became a full-time wife and mother to two daughters, Sue and Ann. Her fondest memories of Lindenwood are of the formal dances held on campus. In those days, students were lucky enough to hear the big band sound of bandleaders like Harry James and see the Butler gym transformed into a grand ballroom. Adelaide and her Lindenwood classmates, Pearl Lamers Schaberg and Helen Niedner Meyer, remain close and see each other regularly. Adelaide and Ed live in St. Charles and enjoy their 4 grandchildren—two of each.

PEARL LAMMERS SCHABERG

Pearl, I am told by her friends, could have had a career as a concert pianist. She chose to become an educator and taught for a time before she married Gene Schaberg and had three children. She returned to teaching when her children were older and found that times in the classroom had definitely changed. Fondly remembered are the formal teas held at Lindenwood. Pearl used to serve as a "floater"—someone responsible for circulating throughout the group and insuring that every young lady had some-one with whom to chat. This activity helped a shy young girl grow into a self-assured and confident woman. Pearl considers the experience invaluable. She also enjoyed the way that faculty took a particular interest in the students—even to the point of each student getting grades verbally from the academic dean! Pearl’s daughter is an alum!

SARA JEFFERSON STUKKENBROEKER

As a student, Sara faithfully rose every Sunday to attend services at the Methodist Church. It was there that she met her husband-to-be, Fern. While Fern has a diploma showing a doctorate from Washington University (he was the youngest person to earn a PhD from that institution), we know that he was at Lindenwood often enough to have earned a degree from there, too. He even filled-in for a professor one day! We have adopted him as an honorary alumnus. His sister and niece also attended as did Sara and Fern’s daughter. He is surrounded by Lindenwood ladies! Sara was a busy young woman. Her fondest memories of Lindenwood center around the dances. She also remembers that the Lindenwood cafeteria was famous for making colored breads (yellow, pink and green). I suppose her most "unpleasant" memory was of a stormy night for dinner. Sara and a few friends would put on their hats and gloves (a "must" for Lindenwood ladies on the streets of St. Charles) and go for hamburgers at a little cafe on First Street. It seems that cafeteria food and college students are a perennial problem. Fern and Sara are retired and spend much of their time traveling. They enjoy visiting their children and grandchildren, and plan to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary in June. Sara is grateful to Lindenwood for making it possible to meet her best friend, Fern, and other life-long chums like Irene Altheide Korte.

IRENE ALTHEIDE KORTE

Irene found an unusual way to keep the area under her bed Ayres dust-free. She stored her musical instruments under it! I am told that there was, at any given time, a trombone, viola and trumpet stashed away under the bed frame. Her roommate, June Goran DuLany, told her that they’d have a serious problem if Irene ever brought home a bass fiddler! Irene’s fondest memories of Lindenwood always include her roommate, June. Her most unpleasant memory is when the two of them were almost forced to separate. It seems that they had trouble going to sleep. On one particular night when the insomnia caused by the youthful exuberance of two Lindenwood ladies was especially acute, they decided to go see the nurse. Maybe there was a powder they could take that would make them drowsy. "Nursery" was a wise woman and not one to prescribe medication unnecessarily. Her solution to Irene and June: "Split up. Find new roommates." Call it a miracle cure, but the girls had no trouble getting to sleep after that.

Irene has been busy. In 1945, she married Don Korte. They have four children. Her professional accomplishments are many. She retired after 35 years of teaching and served as a church musician for 25 years. In her spare time, she was an instructor for the extension divisions of William and Mary College and Old Dominion. Her dedication and service to church and community earned her a place in Who's Who Among American Women. She and Don live in Virginia Beach and like to travel.

JOANNA BENECKE TOWNSEND

Joanna attended Lindenwood from 1930-1939 and, while she ultimately earned her degree from UMFK, she's bonded to the Class of 1941. Originally from Brunswick, Missouri, she has many fond memories of Lindenwood, including one which found her on stage portraying Major Paul Pooko in a production of G.B. Shaw’s Arms and the Man. Joanna left Lindenwood and attended business college where she met her husband, William. She was honored to become part of President Lyndon Johnson's "War on Poverty" and was one of 2,000 selected from 25,000 prospective counselors to work in the program. Joanna enjoyed her reunion with Sara and Irene—especially because they were attendants in her wedding. That wonderful union with William produced 2 fine sons. Joanna now lives in Kansas.
LC HAS NATIONAL CHAMPS IN ATHLETICS

The National Softball Coaches Association (NSCA) has recognized the Lindenwood College Women's Softball team for outstanding honors with the Top Academic Team Award for the 1990-91 academic year.

The Lindenwood softball team lead the NAIA member schools with a cumulative grade point average of 3.4. NSCA Executive Director Rayla Allison congratulated Lindenwood Softball Coach Robert Westling in a letter dated November 15, 1991. Said Allison, "As the Head Coach, you have truly encouraged the definition of 'student athlete' among your players. The national Softball Coaches Association is proud to recognize such outstanding work."

According to Westling, members of the team are "hard-driving in the classroom and on the field. Lindenwood students are leading the nation—even before they graduate."

LC MEN’S SOCCER TOPS SMCC

Kevin McDonough of Lindenwood College heads a list of 11 players named to the 1991 Men’s Show-Me Collegiate All-Conference Soccer team. In a vote of the head soccer coaches, McDonough was chosen as the SMCC Most Valuable Player. In 16 games, McDonough tallied 13 goals and seven assists in leading Lindenwood to a 17-3 record. Kevin was also the conference leader in goals and points.

First year coach Thom Champion of Lindenwood was named District 16 Coach of the Year and was named Co-Coach of the Year of the SMCC. Champion guided the Lions to an undefeated conference record and the SMCC Conference championship. Debbie Washburn, coach of the LC Women’s Soccer Team, was named national "Coach of the Year" by NAIA in 1990-91.

Other Lindenwood students named to the Show-Me Collegiate Conference 1991 All-Conference Soccer Team are: Sean O’Conner (1st team), Terry Berhorst (2nd team), John Brett (2nd team), and Tom Goforth (2nd team).

Four LC students were also named to the SMCC All-Academic Team: Brett Barger, John Brett, Keith Hanson and Celal Kilic.

Finally, Lindenwood has four players on the All-District team: Kevin McDonough (1st team), Terry Berhorst (1st team), Richard Hager (1st team) and Tom Goforth (2nd team).

We’re proud to announce that our Cross Country Athletes were nationally ranked in the top 25 teams in the nation. The women were ranked 22nd—and maybe that’s because they won the District meet for the second year in a row! The men were ranked 20th. Not bad for a 2nd year team. Kudos to Coach Gary White and his world-class assistant, Devon Morris. A special congratulations to Cross Country runner, Shelley Rinehart who was named to the NAIA All-Academic Team for her 4.0 grade point.

Three women on the women’s Volleyball team have received All-Conference honors. Tina Bateiger was named to the All-Conference 2nd team and Nicole Harlan and Stacey Hargrove were named Academic All-Conference for maintaining a minimum 3.0 g.p.a. Coach Laura Kassen is plenty proud of her student athletes.

And, finally, Adam Saperstein, tailback for the LC Football Lions was nationally ranked 7th in scoring and 3rd in punt returns by NAIA Division II.

ACADEMICALLY SPEAKING
By Glenda Raef Schaefer

This marks the first in a series of articles highlighting faculty members at Lindenwood College. In each issue, we will focus on an instructor new to Lindenwood as well as pay tribute to a professor who has served Lindenwood and her students over the years.

Edie Gibbons Barnard

Edie Gibbons Barnard (’83) is an instructor in the Humanities Division where she teaches Video Production, Mass Media Law and Introduction to Mass Media. She is a third generation Lindenwood alumna, following her mother, Folsta Bailey Gibbons and her grandmother, Folsta Heinemann.

After graduation from Lindenwood, Edie worked for the May Company, Famous Barr Division, making motivational tapes, writing newsletters and doing photography. In 1987, she had the opportunity to teach Video Production for an instructor who was on maternity leave. She found it so challenging that she decided to earn a Masters degree so she could be a full-time instructor at the college level. Edie earned her MS from Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville campus.

Her work on campus includes the television studio which produces news-packages on current topics broadcast via St. Charles City Cable Channel 20.

She further supervises students who tape and edit all the home football games and other sporting events. Thanks to a donation from the Lutheran Synod, Edie and her students now have a new switcher and audio board to use in class and for special projects.

Edie still does free-lance work for the May Company, March of Dimes, and the Marsh Company. Her special passion, however, is the social documentary.
This past summer, she accompanied Dr. Daryl Anderson of the Biology Department to Guatemala under the auspices of the Thomas Murton Foundation. They spent ten days documenting the work of the Catholic Church.

James Feely

For 33 years, students at Lindenwood have benefited from Mr. Feely’s wit and wisdom. So, too, have they sweated through a recitation of a Shakespearean monologue and reveled in an outdoor scene from A Midsummer Night’s Dream. One would think that, after three decades, teaching may have lost its allure. But not so. Jim Feely still loves the job and the opportunity to

It was also a pleasure to honor John Wehmer, Head of the Art Department for his work, not only with and for Lindenwood, but as Faculty Liaison to the Alumni Board. While we were saddened to learn that John will be retiring at the end of this academic year, we were pleased to hear that he will be teaching a class or two and that his retrospective exhibit will be on display during Alumni Reunion Weekend next year.

Some of the best news to come out of the meeting,
however, was about the make-up of the Alumni Board. Nancy Calvert and Eric Stuhler have agreed to serve in their respective positions as President and Treasurer for another term. In addition to this good news, the following alumni have been reappointed or named to their first terms on the Board: Martin Sherman (’74), Virginia Terry (’59), Linda Meyer (’87), Brad Ande-son (’75), Jacques Hansbrough (’71) and Mary Ann Collier (’71).

One of the most enjoyable events during the weekend is always the Alumni Luncheon. This year, a record 35 faculty and staff attended to trade current stories for tales of days gone by. Some of the newer graduates and guests were surprised at lunch. We ate family style. You may remember, “First plate to the left, the rest to the right…” After a brief explanation (or refreshers), everyone seemed to enjoy the more formal dining mode. After the meal, the Resident Directors of all the halls led tours of their buildings. It was called a “Reminiscence Ramble.” Unofficially, there aren’t many current students who understand how important it is for alums to get a glimpse of their old rooms.
We’ll have to do something about that for future Alumni Weekends. I suppose young folks don’t grasp that we could care less if the room is messy-we just want to take a peek into our pasts.

The rest of Saturday afternoon was open. You could roam, visit the Bookstore or attend an LC Women’s or Men’s Soccer game in Hunter Stadium. Saturday evening, after the Lindenwood band presented a concert we went to the President’s House for the Taste of St. Charles Buffet. It was a gastronomical extravaganza with such exotic dishes as shrimp etouffe and chicken beignet.
A very special thanks to local restaurants and Alumni Board members Mary Ann Eiklaus, Eric Stuhler, Martin Sherman and Barry Freese for making the “Taste” such a treat.

After eating entirely too much, many of the alumni attended a production of The Divinings in Jekyll Theatre. A most remarkable production with an unusual story. There has been a renaissance in the performing arts department: A fact very much in evidence over the weekend.

Probably the best part of the entire weekend, however, was the talking and laughing after all the planned events were over. Several groups gathered at the Holiday Inn to share stories, look at old yearbooks and bring each other up-to-date. Some of us hadn’t seen each other in 20 years or more.
Miraculously, it was as if we had never been apart.
That invisible Lindenwood thread seems to bind us together–no matter how many miles and years

COLLEGE OFFERS SCHOLARSHIPS TO BEST AND BRIGHTEST

Any student that graduates from Orchard Farm High School in St. Charles County with straight A's during his or her high school career will be eligible for a four-year full scholarship to Lindwood College. John Guffey, dean of admissions and financial aid, said the college entered into the agreement with Orchard Farm "because we want the best and the brightest to come to Lindwood. We want the kids who maintain straight A's in high school as well as the kids who may get just one B their whole high school career." Guffey said that the college is "very interested" in extending the program to other high schools. In addition to scholarships for academic excellence, awards are available for leadership, talent, activities and athletics. If you would like additional information about this program or would like to pursue instituting such a program at a high school near you, contact Marsha Parker, Alumni Office, (314) 949-4903.

"I'd been thinking about the remarks I wanted to make during the Reunion Luncheon for the past 6 weeks. Actually, since I was asked to take the position of Executive Director of Alumni Relations and I accepted, I thought about it driving in my car. Doing the laundry. At my desk. During my nephew's soccer game—and even while my word processor was spitting out the forms and cards I had to prepare for the Reunion. I suppose that I've had a difficult time deciding where to begin, frankly, a little over two years ago. I was afraid that none of us would have a place to hold a reunion. But Lindenwood, like the grand and glorious phoenix has, once again, risen from the ashes. And make no mistake, this is not the first time that Lindenwood College recovered from a crisis that threatened to close the doors forever. The Sibbels had significant financial difficulties during the early years. And the school almost became a memory during the Civil War. The stresses of maintaining the College were too much for President Ayers and he died of a heart attack two weeks after a particularly scathing audit report (or so the story goes). Yet, here we are today. In the middle of a recession we have record residential student enrollment. The Evening Division is strong. How can that be? I believe it is fundamentally because we have followed the lead of that indomitable spirit, Mary Sibley. We have sacrificed for the greater good. We have changed in order to survive. This doesn't mean that we have sold out or capitulated to some ephemeral enemy. It means that, no matter how painful, we have been sensible. We have recognized the need to change. We have been willing to allow the evolutionary process to modify the corporal body to preserve the soul.

In the past 20 years, there have been many changes at Lindenwood. Changes that have caused heartaches and headaches and chasms that often appeared too wide to cross. Change can be difficult and especially when it affects someone or something we love. But, you know, there's an old saying, "The more things change, the more they remain the same." And I have found that to be true of Lindenwood. Because, certainly in the last 20 years and probably from the day Mary Sibley founded this institution, one thing has remained constant: That nurturing environment we fondly remember as the heart of Lindenwood is very much in evidence today, in spite of the fact that there have been seismic shifts on the campus.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter of a Lion's football game, Coach Driskill holds up four fingers on his hand. Slowly, each player on the team and all the other coaches do the same. Whether the team is winning or losing, everyone connected with the team participates. The fellowship and camaraderie symbolized by this gesture is just as real, just as valid as the passing of a flame from one girl to the next in the candlelight ceremony of 30 years ago.

Pat is the mother of 9. I met her when she was pregnant with her last child. You would think that a woman with 9 children and a part-time job could handle anything. And yet, when she began taking classes in LCIE, she was petrified. Thanks to the help of some "seasoned veterans" and understanding faculty, she made it. Pat will walk in graduation in May. She is no more or less elated than I was or you were at the tender age of 21 or 22 when we walked across the dais to receive our diplomas.

The more things change, the more they remain the same. But one thing that will never change is the Lindenwood that I have in my heart and the friends that I made here and the courage that faculty, staff and classmates helped me develop.

My Lindenwood, the Lindenwood of 1967-71, the one that lives in my memory most vividly, is almost certainly different in its details from Nancy Calvert's or Virginia Terry's or Glen Cerny's or even Jacque Hansbrough's (and we were in the same class). And I feel the emotional ties more strongly than some, less accurately than others. The one constant that remains, however, is that the Lindenwood spirit still exists. The desire to provide a safe, yet challenging environment in which to grow emotionally, socially and intellectually is very much in evidence.

So, no more hanging our heads and sighing about the Lindenwood that used to be. She still exists right there in your heart. We need to be proud that our alma mater has, not only survived, but is thriving. That we can offer the Lindenwood experience to young women and men today and into the next century. I'm reminded of a quote by Percy Bysshe Shelley. It sums up how I feel about Lindenwood and all of us. It begins, "I am the daughter..." but I have made a change...

"I am the child of Earth and Water
And the nursling of the Sky
I pass through the pores of the Ocean and Shores;
I change but I cannot die."

NEWEST MEMBER OF BUTLER SOCIETY

If you have provisions for Lindenwood in your will, you may already be a member of the Butler Society. Also, we would like to visit with you about how you can become a Butler Member through the gift of stock, real estate, cash, or by establishing an annuity or unitrust. PLEASE CONTACT PRESIDENT SPELLENNANN OR THE DEVELOPMENT OFFICE TO LEARN MORE. Call (314) 949-4903.
It's hard to believe that the three daughters of Kathryn Taylor Smith (53) are already grown. They are Trina, 22, Rose Lynn, 21, and Michaela, 16, all of whom attend school at St. Mark School so she still has a good number of children in her life. She also gets to do something that many of us wish we could do: Visit often with Mary Liichtner. Why not contact Kathryn at: 1540 NW Third Avenue, Delray Beach, Florida 33444. Ask her to send your regards to Miss L. You can call Kathryn at: (407) 278-4027.

1964-1967
If you're a member of Leadership Texas, maybe you were at the meeting on November 15 in Austin, where Rose Lynn, Zanville Laufer (56) presented her original research paper, "The New 'Good Of Girls': A Profile of the Leadership Texas Class of 1991." Zanville, owner and President of Zanville, Inc., also presented the paper to the student body at Hardin Simmons University and to a national symposium on the role of women at that university. All congratulatory letters can be sent to her at: 7014 Deloache, Dallas, Texas 75225. Her business number is: (214) 691-3922. Maybe you would like to arrange for a presentation by this outstanding alumna.

3. 128 STUDENTS ATTENDED LINDENWOOD IN 1990-91.

1966-1971
Patricia (Tricia) Ann Byrne (68) has had a distinguished career in the Marine Corps. Her "Jimmac" because she retired on November 1, 1991 after 20 years of service. While on active duty, Tricia's assignments included: Customs Officer of the Commander in Chief, Allied Forces Europe and Okinawa, Adjutant for the 12th Marine Artillery Regiment in Japan, Executive Officer of the Woman Recruiting Training Command and Manpower Policy Analyst at Headquarters of the U.S. Marine Corps. During Operation Desert Shield and Storm, she was assigned as the Personnel Officer in the Logistics Plans, Policies and Strategic Mobility Division, HQMC. Tricia has been awarded the Meritorious Service Medal, the Joint Service Commendation Medal and the Navy Achievement Medal. After retirement, she will begin a new career in the civilian sector, return to college and continue to reside in the DC area with her husband, Lt. Col. Jack Espinal. She retires with the rank of Major.

Another new address. We're a mobile lot. Anne Whitney (69) is a writing instructor at the University of Nebraska. Her new address is: 3000 Sheridan Boulevard, Lincoln, Nebraska 68502. Home phone is (402) 438-6346 and her work number at the University is (402) 472-3919.

Our sympathy to Kathy Dello Harvey (70) on the loss of her father, Greg Dello. Kathy lives in Colorado with husband, Tom, and one lonely daughter.

News of Harriet Ross Jardine (70). She is "teaching "psych"". (The explanation point Jay's.) Her work address is: Division of Social Sciences, Macon College, 5357 College Station Drive, Macon, Georgia 31297. Home address and phone are: 3013 Ridge Avenue, #A-5, Macon, Georgia 31204. Phone (912) 745-5632. She states in bold letters on her note to the Alumni Office "STAY IN TOUCH!!!"

Thanks to the efforts of her aunt and uncle, Sarah and Bern Stuenkenbroeker, we now have the address and phone number for Linda Stuenkenbroeker Rogers (70). Linda and husband, Kent, are at: 15915 Tranquil Park Court, Spring, Texas 77379. Phone number: (713) 251-8265. She keeps busy with her 13 and 16 year old sons.

Members of the class of 1971 are on the move, too. Linda Knight Self (71) is in a new home at 1057 Canterbury in Springfield, Missouri 65804, and has the following new phone number: (417) 887-1667. Linda is still with Inter-Pak Electronics and is an active supporter of women's collegiate athletics. (We now have LC shirts in the bookstore with men and women athletes on them!)

Mary Ann Collier (71) has been on the job transfer circuit. A few years ago, she was in Atlanta. Then Westworth, Ohio. Now she is the Division Manager of Bell Labs, a division of AT&T, in New Jersey. Mary was recently appointed to the Alumni Board of Lindenwood College. All we have to do is keep track of her. Her address and phone number are: 1140 Caddo, Bridgewater, New Jersey 08807, (908) 685-3419. Mary has also been in contact with Jeanne Hind (71) who has recently returned to the States from the People's Republic of China where she offered instruction in English as a Second Language.

LINDENWOOD NOW HAS 82 FULL TIME FACULTY (UP FROM 46 IN 88-89)

When next you speak with Jacque Hansbrough (71), say, "Gee no, GTE!" Jacque is still in Alexandria but is now the National Director of Sales for GTE Vantage Solutions. On a sad note, we want to offer her our sympathy on the loss of her father, Frank, who passed away in September. She also had a health scare with her mom, Donnie, but all is well now. Jacque is another new member of the Alumni Board.

After months of searching, we were finally able to contact Roberto Ruiz, Jr. (71) but we had to call Wally Reed Army Hospital to do so. During Desert Storm, Roberto, a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve, volunteered for active duty, and served eight months in Washington, DC. He's now back in Las Vegas working at the hospital, seeing clients in private practice, teaching part-time at UNLV, singing with a "doo-wop" group on the weekends. To find out if tapes are available for your listening pleasure, contact Roberto at: 2312 N. Green Valley Parkway, Apartment 221, Henderson, NV 89014.
Special congratulations to Dr. Berte Baker ('71) for her recent election as President of the American Osteopathic College of Pathologists. The A.O.C.P. has 165 members representing pathologists nationwide. It is one of the specialty colleges of the American Osteopathic Association, which has 22,000 physician members. Certified in both Anatomic Pathology and Laboratory Medicine, Berte is staff pathologist at Phoenix General and is also an Associate Professor of Pathology at the University of New England College of Osteopathic Medicine in Maine. She lives in Sackets Harbor with her husband, Rev. Carl F. Eschenbrenner, and their two daughters, Cara and Ellen.

1972-1975
Football may be fairly new to Lindenwood College but not to Lindenwood graduate Robert (Rob) Peters ('73). He's the head football coach at Atherton High School in Kentucky. To reach Rob, send a note to: 500 Falmate Court, Louisville, Kentucky or call (502) 893-9394.

CALL MARSHA PARKER TO REQUEST INFORMATION ABOUT FALL, 1992!

Martha Ackmann ('73) has a new address for us. It's: 12A Karen Drive, Sunderland, Maine 04376. New phone number is: (613) 665-7325. Martha is a professor of English and Women's Studies at Mount Holyoke College.

Fulbright appointments are not restored for current Lindenwood faculty. Dr. Mark Poindeaster ('73), held a six-month Fulbright appointment as a visiting professor at Institute Superieur de Journalisme in Rabat, Morocco in 1990. He also taught a seminar on journalism of opinion at the Centre African de Perfectionnement des Journalistes et Communicateurs in Tunisia during the summer of 1991. He had an article on Moroccan television published in the Summer, 1991 issue of Journal of Communication. Congratulations, Mark.

Please let Dorothy Kozietek Kansteiner ('74) know you're thinking of her. She recently lost her father. Dorothy lives in Washington, Missouri with her husband and two sons.

Ah, what goes around, comes around. Jody Weaver Barklage ('74), and husband, Dan, have purchased and remodeled a historic home in St. Charles that once was occupied by George and Mary Sibley. In more recent history, the house belonged to Harry Hendren's mother. While researching the title, Jody learned that the College foreclosed on the Sibleys. That must have been awkward.

We want to welcome another new member to the Alumni Board. Brad Anderson ('75), General Manager of Vicom Cable in Franklin, Wisconsin, began his term in October. He has some other good news: He and wife, Robin, have added a daughter to the family. Emily Ann was born on June 30, 1991, and joins brother, Marty, mom and dad in a new house. Their address is: 7411 Woodbury Court, Franklin, Wisconsin, 53132.

Janice P. Stewart ('75) was tenured and promoted in 1990 to the position of Associate Professor in Accounting at the University of Missouri-Columbia. She is currently on a leave of absence and employed by Washington University's Olin School of Business as a research associate working on two projects in international finance.

1976-1979
Class Correspondents: Esther Fenning ('77) 1329 Hampton Road, St. Charles, MO 63303 Phone: (314) 928-0787 or Jinny Gender ('76) 225 Peeke, Kirkwood, MO 63122 Phone: (314) 966-3439.

After a 12-year hiatus, religion and philosophy are now an integral part of the LC curriculum.

As I said earlier, occasionally news doesn't get to us in a timely fashion. So, belated best wishes to James C. Wauford ('76) for his retirement from Federal Civil Service in 1989. James received the Outstanding Civilian Career Medal for 35 years of exemplary service. In addition, he was praised in a letter of appreciation by President Bush and presented with a flag flown over the Capitol on his 55th birthday. Although he is ostensibly retired, he is working more than he intended as a quality management consultant to major defense contractors.

Jan R. Kniffen ('78) was promoted in May, 1991, to Senior Vice President and Treasurer of the May Department Stores Company. Jan was also named the "Best Investor Relations Officer in Retailing" by Institutional Investor magazine (August, 1991 issue). Jan periodically serves as an adjunct professor at Lindenwood. We're grateful to have someone with his background and insight on faculty.

We are pleased to hear from Yvonne McCall ('78). She is psychotherapist at the Educational Therapy Center and also has a private practice in Edgewater. In addition to working with clients, Yvonne conducts personal management workshops in St. Louis, teaches private art lessons and is an exhibiting artist. How does she find the time?

Terrie Rollins ('79) has moved into a "new" home in Clayton near her business, images and ideas. Images and ideas is a destination management company that handles special events and tours. Terrie owns the company with Diane Gallant, also class of 1979.

Now is a good time to reach Lois Mayer Boschert ('79). If you want to speak with her several weeks ago, you would have had to call New Zealand—and try to get an up-link to the helicopter in which she was a passenger. She and her husband, Fred, spent three weeks throughout North and South Island, New Zealand and also stopped in Sydney, Australia for a few days. Lois' daughter, Laurann Boschert Cummins, is a sophomore theatre major at Lindenwood.

The last few years have been exciting for Suzanne L. Glenzy Jones ('79). She was married March 4, 1989, to F. Thomas Jones III, a real administrator with the North Carolina National Bank and promoted to assistant sales and marketing manager for Kaysee Roth Hoisery, Inc. (makers of "No-Nonsense" Cabin Klein hosiery, etc.). Suzanne should make contact with other alumni and friends in Greensboro; like Bill Jones, Jr. ('91), an appraiser of personal property and antiques, and former Vice President of Lindenwood, Dan Keck. Dr. Keck is now at Greensboro College.

IN MEMORIAM

Our thoughts and prayers are with family and friends of our Lindwood classmates who have passed through this life. While they may no longer live upon the earth, they will always be alive in our memories.

Margaret Steed Smith (19), April 19, 1991. After attending Lindwood, she graduated from the University of Kansas and did Master's work at UCLA and Columbia University. She taught English and was the Director of Activities at Webster Junior High School in Oklahoma City. She married Dr. F. Mazey Cooper and raised two daughters. After her husband’s death, she served as Sigma Nu housemother at the U. of Oklahoma for 11 years. Margaret remained active in art and civic clubs until her death at the age of 92. She loved education and her experiences at Lindwood were among her very best.

Wilma Gladish Blount (20) was a member of the Kansas City Alumni club and she will be missed. We offer our most sincere sympathy to her family.

Lawrence Reno was kind enough to notify us of the death of his mother, Leah Floyd Reno, in July, 1991. Mrs. Reno attended Lindwood in 1920-22 and then went to the University of Kansas from which she graduated in 1924. Her son says that she always had fond memories of her stay at Lindwood.

Friends and colleagues will appreciate your thought of Norma E. Walker, who attended Lindwood in 1927. Norma earned her BFA degree from the University of Kansas in 1929 and worked as a jewelry designer in Kansas City before moving to Fort Collins, Colorado in 1937 to begin her career as an art instructor at Colorado State University. She retired in 1971 and was later named faculty member emerita. Norma was born on December 5, 1905 in Smith Center, Kansas.

We regret to inform Lindwood friends of the passing, on January 7, 1990, of Helen Almond Ford (28). Remember her in your thoughts and prayers.

We were recently notified of the death, in 1989, of Louise C. Blosier Wilson (29).

Join us in offering our sympathy to Charles Knoeblauch on the loss of his beloved wife, Susan Buckwell Knoeblauch (32). She was lost to him on August 2, 1991.

We were sorry to learn of the passing of another alumna from 1931. Beatrice Davis MacKellar died on July 31, 1991. She will be fondly remembered by family and friends.

A memorial service was held on April 7 for Alice Kube Brueer (35). A school teacher and antique dealer in Wyoming for many years, she is survived by husband Carl Fronz. Brueer three children, seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Victoria Shannon Tatum (37) passed away September 1, 1990, In Tupelo, Mississippi. A fine Southern lady, Victoria lived with and cared for her mother until she died in 1980. She remained in Tupelo in the same house she and her family had occupied for all of her life. Victoria's executrix, Julie Tatum Henderson, tells us that she spoke often of Lindwood and periodically corresponded with some of her classmates. Remember her and the good times you shared at Lindwood.

We offer our sympathy to the family of Dorothy Blue Suber (41). Dorothy passed away July 27, 1990. She was a school psychologist and professional musician. She never would have been able to attend classes or see her classmates and we are grateful that she was able to attend classes or see her classmates and we are grateful. She will be missed by her Lindwood friends.

Members of the Class of 1945 will miss Dorothy Slaughter Walker who died September 10, 1991. Dorothy was a teacher and retired from Herrin Junior High School in 1982. She attended Lindwood in 1933 and 1934. She was a member of the St. Andrew Episcopal Church, served on various church boards, sponsored the Herrin Junior High School Honor Society and was a member of the New Mexico State University Women's Club. She is survived by her husband, No Walker, four married children and seven grandchildren.

Barbara Lamar Lawton wants us all to take a moment to think of her Lindwood roommate, Betty Sweeney Petersen (45) who passed away in Minneapolis in January, 1990.

Condolences to the family of Patricia Waldron Amstutz (47). Patricia died July 14, 1991.

Many thanks to Joe Carroll for his generous gift on behalf of his lovely wife, Jeanne Clark Carroll (47) who was lost to him May 3, 1991. You are in our thoughts, Joe.

"Business woman, civic leader, wife and mother...all these words describe Carolyn Owen Ketterjohn (51) who died May 7, 1991. She was vice-president of Owen Cleaners, member of the Paducah Garden Club, associate member of the Charity League and member of the United Church of Christ where she served as a deacon. Surviving her are husband, Eugene, two daughters and three grandchildren."
A SPECIAL HONOR: CLASS CORRESPONDENT

One of the most critical responsibilities at any College or University is maintaining contact with the alumni. Former students and graduates represent the mission and message of the institution. They tell the world directly and indirectly about their alma mater.

Over the years, attempts have been made to institute a Class Correspondent system by which a strong and consistent line of communication can be maintained between Lindenwood and her more than 11,000 alumni around the world.

President Spellmann, in conjunction with the Alumni Board and with the assistance of the Alumni Office, has made a commitment to instituting this system, utilizing the skills of "Lindenwood's best". The system created by Nancy Calvert, Alumni Board President, and Marsha Hollander Parker, Executive Director of Alumni Relations, consists of 18 key Correspondents. Each will be responsible for a 4-year span of time. These Correspondents can determine the structure of the organizations within that 4-year block, and enlist the aid of individual reporters for each year if they choose.

Four Class Correspondents have already been named. They represent commitment and service to Lindenwood and understand that the links between yesterday and today must be forged to insure tomorrow. If you are interested in being considered for a Class Correspondent position or if you would like to nominate a friend or classmate, please submit name, address and phone number to Marsha Parker, Alumni Office by no later than February 1, 1992.
