Dear Lindenwood Evening Student,

We are reaching out to inform our students that Lindenwood University’s administration announced plans this morning regarding the traditional daytime undergraduate programs at the Belleville campus. While this decision has no direct impact on you as a student in the evening programs, we wanted you to know the facts of the decision and what it means for the Lindenwood community.

After careful consideration and exploration of several possible courses of action, the Board of Trustees has approved a plan to consolidate all traditional undergraduate programs to the St. Charles campus, effective after the conclusion of the 2019-20 academic year. After May 2020, traditional undergraduate programs will be offered only on Lindenwood’s St. Charles campus. The Belleville site will continue to offer evening and graduate programs, and classes currently held in Lindenwood’s Collinsville facility will be moved to the Belleville site.

Please know that this decision was not arrived at lightly. University leadership reached this decision after significant time spent exploring options for the Belleville campus in light of financial and enrollment challenges. Throughout this process, our students, faculty, and staff remain our top priority, along with our ability to fulfill the Lindenwood University mission of providing a high-quality educational experience for all students.

We’ve taken strides to ensure that undergraduate students at the Belleville campus are able to easily continue their education at the St. Charles campus, now or after the 2019-20 academic year.
