Robyne's Wrap

Hello! I'm Robyne Elder, Associate Provost for Academic Effectiveness. The Center for Engaged Learning is a place for you to find your passions, engage in the community, the world, and your future. We hope you come by to visit soon! The fall season reminds us that change is all around us, as we are constantly growing, developing, and learning. I wish you a wonderful start to the semester and to remember each day is a gift (that is why it is the present!). Live in the fall by discovering your passions, your love for learning, and facing each day no matter what it may bring.

Robyne's Read: My Name is Barbra, Barbra Streisand

Robyne's Listen: The Great American Bar Scene, Zach Bryan

Study Abroad

Are you dreaming of exploring new cultures, gaining international experience, and broadening your horizons? Whether you want to study abroad in another country or welcome international experiences to our own campus, the Global Mobility Department is here to guide you every step of the way!

At the Study Abroad Office, we believe that education knows no boundaries. Our mission is to provide you with opportunities that go beyond the classroom, offering immersive experiences that enrich your academic journey and personal growth. We partner with universities worldwide and organize exciting programs that allow you to dive deep into new cultures, learn different languages, and make lifelong connections.

If you're curious about studying in a new country, or if you're an international student looking to make the most of your time on our campus, we're your go-to resource. From understanding the application process to navigating life in a new environment, we offer support and guidance tailored to your unique goals.

Stay tuned to our section in this newsletter for updates on exciting programs, tips for making the most of your global experience, and stories from students just like you who have ventured out into the world and returned with incredible tales to share.

Ready to take the first step in your global journey? Reach out to us—we can't wait to help you explore the world!
